2010 EVALUATION OF ADEA

Terms of Reference

INTRODUCTION

The Association for the Development of Education in Africa (ADEA) is first and foremost a forum for policy dialogue. Created in 1988, it was initially set up as a framework for better coordination among development agencies.

Twenty years after it was founded, ADEA has come to represent a genuine partnership between African education and training ministries in Africa and their technical and external partners. It has also developed into a network of policy-makers, educators and researchers, and, based on its capacity to foster policy dialogue, a catalyst for educational reform. It is recognized today as being a major actor in the processes of dialogue, sharing and learning for qualitative change in education aimed at promoting Africa's development.

This status serves ADEA's mission to act as a catalyst for promising policies and practices through the pooling of ideas, experience, lessons learned and knowledge.

One of the principles underlying ADEA's philosophy is that the responsibility of education rests with the governments of Africa. This is why ADEA is concerned with fostering a process that empowers African ministries of education and makes development agencies more responsive to the concept of national ownership. ADEA's activities focus on strengthening policy dialogue between governments and agencies, between governments, and between development agencies. Its activities also focus on enhancing institutional and technical capacities within Africa by establishing networks for the sharing of information and the dissemination of successful strategies and innovations. Within this context, ADEA fosters regional, sub-regional and cross-country exchanges as well as partnerships with civil society institutions.

BACKGROUND/RATIONALE

The Association for the Development of Education in Africa (ADEA) has just reached the mid-point of the implementation of its 2008-2012 Medium- Term Strategic Plan (MTSP). The MTSP's main objectives are to reinforce ADEA's role as a major player in policy dialogue, and provide a forum for reflection on the critical educational issues in Africa. Since its creation in 1988 the then Donors for African Education (DAE) has lived through a rich and rewarding experience in terms of activities conducted, initiatives taken and partnerships developed. It has favoured exchange and open discussion on educational policy and reform in a flexible, collegial and evolving manner.

The ADEA Steering Committee now consists of ten African ministers of education and training representing all the ministers of education and training in Africa and the different geographical and linguistic regions, and representatives from 18 bilateral and multilateral co-operation agencies.

The orientation of ADEA has been marked by global events and emerging issues that have greatly influenced educational policy and international co-operation strategies in the field of education in Africa. These include the World Education Conference in Jomtien in 1990, the World Education Forum in Dakar in 2000, the World Summit for Social Development in Copenhagen in 1995, the United Nations Fourth World Conference on Women in Beijing in 1995, the Summit on the Millennium Development Goals in New York in 2000 and the meeting of the G8 countries in Kananaskis in 2002. New aid modalities, approaches and instruments – in particular poverty reduction strategy papers (PRSPs), the Highly Indebted

Poor Countries (HIPC) initiative and sector-wide approaches – have also had an impact on the development of educational strategies in Africa. Initiatives launched by African political leaders, such as NEPAD, are expected to play an important role in the future. In 2005 ADEA commissioned an independent evaluation of its activities and this resulted in the following developments:

- Development of an MTSP that includes the review of its vision and mission, organizational structure, operational strategies, strengthening of its key organizational components (Steering Committee, Bureau of Ministers, Secretariat, Working Groups (WG), relocation of the Secretariat from Paris to Africa, expansion of its geographic coverage to include North Africa. The relocation of the ADEA Secretariat to Africa has now been effective since August 2008. The African Development Bank (AfDB), at its temporary relocation site in Tunis (Tunisia), is the new host institution. A Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) has been established between ADEA and AfDB that frames the roles and responsibilities of each party. The rationale for relocating ADEA to Africa is to bring it closer to activities at country level and to the main education players' needs and priorities.
- A new strategy that roots the Association in the continental educational development agenda as illustrated by the partnership with the African Union (support to the Plan of Action of 2nd Decade, signing of an MoU, Strategic Partnership with UNESCO, EU Commission)
- Rationalization of the Association's Working Groups based on their relevance, effectiveness, efficiency and impact.
- Taking into account both the Declaration of Paris and Accra in the Association's principles
- Factoring in the current financial crisis and its impact on flow of aid to Africa

All of the above has contributed to the increased recognition of ADEA's lead role in policy dialogue as illustrated by the number of solicitations for collaboration the Association receives on key priority educational issues¹.

Important lessons have been learned that must be considered in the future policy direction and mode of operation of ADEA. Amongst these are:

- The need to consolidate and reinforce what has been accomplished, particularly as regards the ADEA mission of policy dialogue and education policy reform and co-operation strategies.
- The need to pursue and intensify our approaches – research, exchange and dissemination of knowledge, and capacity-building – with a view to providing the best possible response to the needs of policy-makers and implementers in Africa.
- The need to break new ground by exploring emerging topics, experimenting with new avenues of regional co-operation and seeking partnerships with civil society.

The structure of ADEA consists of the following components:

- Governance Bodies:
 - Steering Committee
 - Executive Committee
 - Bureau of Ministers
 - Interagency Meeting

¹ For more information on the ADEA, please consult the following web site: www.adeanet.org.

- Implementing Bodies
 - Secretariat
 - Working Groups

The fields of activities of ADEA are:

- Dissemination of information and experience
- Exchange of expertise
- Networking to build social capital
- Use made of the knowledge produced
- Facilitation of policy dialogue
- Building and Strengthening of capacity

DESCRIPTION OF THE ASSIGNMENT

These Terms of Reference concern the evaluation of the Association for the Development of Education in Africa.

1. Objectives of the evaluation

This evaluation has the following objectives:

- To review ADEA's progress since the 2005 evaluation with regard to the main recommendations made.
- To analyse the structure and program of ADEA with regard to relevance, effectiveness (understood as immediate and intermediary outcomes), and efficiency.
- To assess how ADEA has adapted to the new context of educational development in Africa (AU's political role individual country's policies, role of RECs, and international development partners).
- To assess the degree of ownership of ADEA's modus operandi by African ministries of education.
- To review ADEA WGs' relevance and effectiveness as the professional arms of ADEA.
- To carry out a mid-term review of the 2008-2012 MTSP.
- To assess the coherence of ADEA activities vis-à-vis the 2008-2012 MTSP and the Action Plan of the AU 2nd Decade of Education.
 - with regard to the activities of the Secretariat
 - with regard to the activities of the Working Groups
- To benchmark ADEA with similar organisations such as the Southeast Asian Ministers of Education Organisation (SEAMEO) and the Organisation of Ibero-American States for the Education, Science and Culture (OEI) in terms of structure, effectiveness, and financing

2. Scope of the evaluation (January 2005 to 30 June 2010)

The evaluation should cover all the components of ADEA structure and examine the relevance of activities undertaken by them. It should review in particular:

- the activities undertaken directly by the Secretariat
- the activities undertaken by the WGs
- implementation of the Steering Committee's 2007 decisions on the rationalization of WGs: relevance, effectiveness, efficiency and impact

- implementation of the support to the AU as envisaged in the MoU (specific activities carried out by the Secretariat and WGs)
- performance in communication

3. Research questions

With regard to the overall structure of ADEA:

- How relevant are ADEA's vision and mission vis-à-vis the current education and development challenges?
- To what extent has the 2008-2012 MTSP been successfully translated in implementable operational plans and budgets?
- To what extent have individual components of ADEA Structure been retooled and resourced to effectively execute the MTSP? In other words, are the mandates of the components of the ADEA structure adequate to their role and do they function properly in light of available resources? How efficient have they been in the use of available resources to achieve key objectives of the MTSP?
- Is the work of ADEA well known at the ministry level, in the agencies and other key civil society organizations working in education on the continent?
- To what extent has ADEA formed strategic partnerships to carry out its mission effectively and efficiently?
- To what extent have the WGs and the Secretariat applied the recommendations of the 2000 evaluation that specifically focused on WGs?
- Has ADEA's relocation within the AfDB brought it closer to African countries' needs and priorities and improved its overall performance?
- Regarding financial viability: 1. to what extent has ADEA succeeded in raising financial resources commensurate with its objectives, and from what sources (e.g., World Bank, bilateral donors, foundations, etc.)? 2. To what extent has ADEA succeeded in diversifying its funding beyond a small number of donors? 3. To what extent are the sources of funding for ADEA (including donor restrictions on the use of resources) affecting, positively or negatively: a) the strategic focus of the program; b) the outputs and outcomes of the program; c) the governance and management of the program; and d) the sustainability of the program?

With a special focus on the secretariat and working groups, the following additional research questions on the issues of relevance, effectiveness and efficiency should be considered.

3.1. Relevance (based on the purpose, objectives and activities of ADEA)

- To what extent is the Medium-Term Strategic Plan of ADEA responding to the main challenges of educational development in Africa?
- To what extent are the activities conducted by ADEA regarded as relevant at the country and the agency levels, and have added value with respect to the areas of work as defined above? How are African ministries of education demonstrating ownership of ADEA activities?
- To what extent have the following ADEA principles such as: (i) the adoption of a culture of cooperation (partnership) in education characterized by mutual recognition, respect, transparency, and sharing and (ii) a culture of analysis that fosters change and leads to commitment to social transformation by altering conceptions, attitudes, practices and relationships of stakeholders in education been applied in the work of the Steering Committee, Bureau of Ministers, Interagency Meeting and Working Groups?

3.2 Effectiveness and efficiency (based on organizational structure, membership, procedural guidelines)

- Is the structure of ADEA conducive to an effective mode of operation?
- Has the current hosting arrangement of ADEA's Secretariat within the African Development Bank improved the Association's effectiveness and efficiency in terms of its administrative and financial capacity to manage, execute and report on its programmatic activities?
- How effective have ADEA WGs been in providing technical assistance and contributing to educational development in their respective thematic areas?
- What has been the effect of the different arrangements made with the ADEA WGs' host institutions on WGs' capacity to administratively and financially manage, execute and report on their programmatic activities?
- Are the main activities such as the Biennial Meetings conducive for achieving ADEA's goals, especially policy dialogue and dissemination of information?
- What are the roles and responsibilities of the ADEA components with regards to all stakeholders in the activities of ADEA? How are stakeholders represented in various fora and what is the nature of their involvement and contribution?
- Are current guiding principles and operational procedures satisfactory and effective - including mechanisms for planning, reporting, and monitoring activities at the country level?
- Have the Secretariat and working groups implemented the decisions made by the Steering Committee in 2007 in terms of relevance, effectiveness, efficiency and impact?
- To which degree is ADEA financially sustainable in the medium term in terms of continued donor commitment and increased contributions of African Ministries of Education;
- What is the cost-efficiency of ADEA?

Methodology

The tools and methods used should involve analyzing the existing documents, reviewing products and publications, field visits and interviewing the various ADEA stakeholders so as to analyze the strengths, weaknesses, obstacles and opportunities in the functioning of ADEA and the activities it pursues. The evaluators must particularly ensure that the views of the core partners concerned by the ADEA activities, ministries and agencies are duly reflected. This should be based on interviews and dialogue with former and current Steering Committee members, with agency and ministry staff who are currently involved in ADEA activities, and with leaders and coordinators of working groups.

The evaluation team will develop and use a methodology and instruments to ensure qualitative and quantitative analysis and proper involvement of ADEA components and stakeholders in the evaluation.

Expected Results

The evaluation should ensure the following results:

- Determination of progress made in regards to recommendations in the 2005 evaluation
- Lessons learned on the implementation of the 2008-2012 MTSP;
- Assessment of the added value of ADEA to major initiatives and the AU 2nd Decade of Education and other major initiatives such as EFA and MDGs

- Assessment of added value of the Association, especially with regard to achieved results
- Recommendations, if any, for improvements of ADEA's role and structure.

4. Calendar

- Starting date of assignment: 1 July 2010
- Finishing date of assignment: 31 October 2010. The evaluation results will be presented at the Steering Committee meeting immediately following the completion of the evaluation. The team will then be asked to finalize their report.
- Indicative number of days for the assignment: 120 expert/days
- Indicative schedule:

The TOR will be placed on the ADEA Web site:	4 June 2010
Deadline for submitting proposals:	25 June 2010
Selection of the evaluation team:	1 July 2010
Submission of the first draft of the evaluation:	31 October 2010
Discussion in the Steering Committee:
Finalization of the evaluation report:	10 November 2010

5. Monitoring and Support

The ADEA Secretariat will provide administrative and technical support for the evaluation team. The Executive Secretary of ADEA is responsible for the overall co-ordination of the evaluation.

Q. 6 Please list the two major benefits that your WG derives from Biennial/Triennial Meetings

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1) Major opportunities for networking with all major actors in education: Ministers, Donors, Consultants etc | Platform to showcase and inform others what the WG is doing has done and has achieved as per plan |
| 2) To advocate to Education Planners to give more emphasis to the early years | |

- | | |
|--|---|
| 3) knowing what the other countries are doing about the school book policy | |
| 4) Determination, review, and renewal of WGHE institutional and operational policies. | Report-back, feedback, and open discussion of both narrative and financial reports increases sharing of relevant information, opportunity to focus on accountability and transparency issues in the Education Service. |
| 5) visibility of our work | opportunity for networking |
| 6) Biennial Meetings on ECD organised by ADEA ECD WG have steered the development and implementation of ECD policies and policy frameworks | The meetings have influenced the broad focus on holistic development of young children by advocating for integrated initiatives in members countries |
| 7) It provides a forum of interaction/better understanding between African Education Ministers and the network of African Education Journalists | The above is also true of COMED and the Ministers of Education, so each sees the other as a partner in progress. |
| 8) Opportunity to showcase ECD work | Opportunity to promote ECD Policies and Strategic Plans in SSA |
| 9) Sharing knowledge and experiences with policy makers and other stakeholders | Showcasing some of the key products of the WG |
| 10) advocacy | showcasing |
| 11) sharing of expertise and experiences | access to resources |
| 12) Net working opportunities | Sharing of Lessons learnt and best practices |
| 13) opportunity to meet with WG Chair and Coordinator | opportunity to advocate the issues of literacy, non formal education and youth and adult education |
| 14) One major benefit is the possibility of getting the perception of Ministries of Education and other key stakeholders on the main challenges towards which ADEA is supposed to direct its work. | Biennial meetings have contributed to reinforce the nature of the education challenge - which is global, requiring articulated strategies and global approaches. This has enabled ADEA to move beyond basic education, traditionally seen as the only priority. |
| 15) helps field workers to showcase innovative practices; contributes to advocacy and making programs more visible locally and regionally. | |
| 16) Acknowledgement that ECD is an important issue that cannot be ignored in Africa | Attention by high level policy makers in agencies as well as in governments. |
| 17) Opportunity to hear about work done by other groups or individuals on the same issues on the WG's agenda | |
| 18) Networking | Collecting ideas |

- | | |
|--|---|
| 19) Strengthens partnership building | Provides platform to share experiences and research findings |
| 20) an arena for the African education journalists' award | collaboration on media coverage of the event |
| 21) access to MOE officials | exposure to a large, captive audience |
| 22) It provides a platform for advocacy with Ministers of Education on evidence based policy decisions | |
| 23) Share experiences in various topic areas | Hear from Ministers about challenges and priorities in the topic area |
| 24) les réunions nous donnent l'opportunité de découvrir les expériences porteuses des autres pays et d'échanger nos pratiques | les rencontres de biennale sont des moments de partage d'information et de dissémination des produits de recherches sur les expériences d'efficacité révélées |
| 25) Grande adhésion des décideurs politiques | mobilisation des partenaires et parties prenantes |
| 26) la mise en commun des connaissances | le point sur les discussions |

Q. 9 To what extent is your WG effective at providing technical assistance at the country or regional level? Please identify two short examples.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1) Not at all | |
| 2) WG mediated and supported training is provided at regional level recently: Multigrade Teacher Training | Provision of WG developed training materials to ministries of education |
| 3) Communication | |
| 4) WGHE supported Association of Universities in Africa in meeting their mandate to the national universities. | The Secretariat of ADEA occasionally assisted the African Union Commission (AUC) Secretariat in providing technical services, and the WGHE Coordinator was based at the AUC Head Office for some time to beef up the AUC Secretariat capacity. |
| 5) WGHE has been providing technical assistance to university networks including the Association of African Universities, the Research Excellence Network REESAO in Francophone Africa and more recently the African Union Commission and the Regional Economic Communities (RECS) in particular, ECOWAS | WGHE also support actively the work of UNESCO-BREDA; UNESCO BAMAKO Cluster, UNESCO Regional office based in Accra and UNESCO Headquarters among others |
| 6) ADEA has supported Tanzania to have ECD Focal persons from Government, Development Partners and Civil Society organisation, with government being a member of the ADEA ECDWG steering committee | ADEAECDWG has supported Tanzania ECD Network to conduct a baseline survey of ECD service providers and it is currently planning to strengthen the network to become a multisectoral network |

- | | |
|---|---|
| 7) COMED has been involved in training education journalists and Ministry of Education officials and plans to do another soon. | |
| 8) Seminars and training activities have been provided | Many studies and documents have been produced |

| 27) Formulation d'une politique intégrée dans deux pays | Adoption de stratégies accélérées dans trois pays |
| 28) Pas de commentaire particulier. | |

Q. 11 What is the single most important recommendation you could make to ADEA to increase the added value of WGs within the Association?

- 1) Close the WG for Higher Education -- it is a liability rather than an asset
- 2) Evaluation of Performance and Contribution of WGs problem-solving, generation of new knowledge, reform of education to modernise and make appropriate etc.
- 3) Need for having competent, more committed, and full-time Coordinators to give maximum time to ADEA work.
- 4) Reduce the number and scope of activities carried out by the Secretariat, in order for the Secretariat staff, especially the program and finance staff to have more time to facilitate the work of the WGs which are gradually losing their steam
- 5) Strengthen the WGs to be independent with resource both human and financial to be able to specifically focus on their specific objectives
- 6) The office of the Coordinator needs more hands to make it more efficient.
- 7) Ask for quarterly financial and programme reports from each WG, and then follow up with each WG.
- 8) They need to become independent entities (but with a remaining ADEA linkage) so they really become African agents of change
- 9) Do not try to centralize control of WGs. Let the WGs regulate their own work based on an agreed vision and annual action plans. Monitor results, not processes.
- 10) more ongoing assistance and financial support
- 11) Listen more to the stakeholders as they are best placed to advise on the local needs of education development
- 12) to disseminate the publications and studies of the WG to wider audience
- 13) Work towards major integration and combination of activities undertaken by the different WGs.
- 14) amélioration de la qualité des manuels produits dans mon pays
- 15) Improve the Information, Communication and Documentation strategy.
- 16) Provide technical support member countries especially in small countries like my own island state
- 17) Provide opportunities for concertation between triennials
- 18) Share annual or semi-annual reports

- 19) Mobilise more resources to promote policies for support and investment in early development and learning
- 20) improve its financial and administrative capacity to serve working groups
- 21) To adopt a gendered approach to its work from planning to evaluation
- 22) Shering information
- 23) Other working groups to effectively work with Regional Economic Groups such as SADC and ECOWAS
- 24) provide more guidance to the WG staff
- 25) Renforcer les groupes de travail dans la production de connaissances et le renforcement des capacités
- 26) DISSEMINER LES RESULTATS DE SES TRAVAUX ET DIFFUSER L'INFORMATION SUR SON EXISTENCE ET SES RESULTATS

Q. 12 What are the three major strengths of your WG?

- | | | |
|---|---|--|
| 1) There are none -- and as a donor I find this unacceptable and counter-productive | | |
| 2) A real commitment of the major regional partners for ECD in Africa to work together in the W.G | A real interest and trust of the country's partner on the W.G activities | The W.G is very well known now at country and regional level and that's make it important for Advocacy , information sharing and exchanges. |
| 3) Provides a strong platform for networking and sharing knowledge and valuable experiences | Development of needs-led training materials to support ministries of education capacity building | A strong advocacy voice for the teaching profession beyond trade unions |
| 4) Good attendance at meetings, enhancing understanding of issues, effective debates and rational decision-making. | Experienced Coordinator who relates well with Members of the Group, and makes good preparations for the meetings. | Communication is efficient and exchange of ideas is effective. |
| 5) Analytical work and the recommendations for stakeholders which are disseminated very widely through a variety of methods including policy briefs | The training tools we develop and the capacity building activities we undertake | Our advocacy for the role and contribution of higher education to Africa's development, and more recently the role and contribution of higher education and research to the achievements of the EFA and MDGs |
| 6) It is multisectoral with diversity of members | It is transparent and consultative | It has continued to support the understanding and promotion of ECD interventions in Africa |

7) Diverse membership and expertise	Pragmatic leadership of the steering committee	Ability to impact on the work of other working groups because communication is key to development.
8) Excellent and committed members on Steering Committee	Network of ECD Focal Points	Strong leadership from Ann-Therese Ndong-Jatta of UNESCO/BREDS
9) Unsure at the moment
10) Knowledge sharing amongst different actors (government, educators and development partners)	Consensus building among issues that affect many countries.	Broker of ideas. The WG helps to bring together experiences from different countries and regions to the knowledge of countries and institutions. Similarly, the WGs helps to bring the concerns of institutions and governments to the development partners community in a collegial manner. This helps to influence policy and practices on both sides in a manner that in non-threatening and collegial
11) strategic planning for programme development	good communication	good leadership and teamwork
12) Sharing information	Workshops/seminars/conferences on topical issues	Support of stakeholder activities
13) good collaboration with government and NGOs in Burkina Faso	support provided by the ADEA Secretariat
14) Teachers and teacher education are increasingly recognised as key for the attainment of education goals.	A number of regional and international organizations focus their work on teachers. This provides increased room for collaborative partnerships.	The WG convening power in its relationship with ministries of education provides a unique opportunity for change and development.
15) révision régulière des manuels existants	participation des opérateurs privés dans l'édition et l'impression des manuels scolaires	l'adoption en cours d'une politique éditoriale des manuels scolaires du primaire
16) easily accessible and available for advice and support;	high level of commitment on the part of its members;
17) Commitment to disseminate to African Countries

18) The new structure of regional coordination, if can be made to work effectively	Work on non civil servant teachers, if made more systematic
19) It's a key partner to both government and private sector	Leads in key research issues
20) High profile champions among heads of states and first ladies	Clear focus and mobilisation of cutting edge neuroscientists to add the scientific arguments to the advocacy and policy advice	Dedicated partner representatives drawn from across the globe and it is strongly affiliated to consultative Group on children
21) its resilience as a network for communicators in the field of education	the ability of its coordinator to forge partnerships	its purpose: to put education reform on the media map and communicate to all levels of society
22) We are well governed	We have a 5-year strategic plan	We are recognised as an authority in Girls' Education in Africa and as key stakeholder of education in Africa
23) Produce the information to WG	Shering that information	Provide training to the WG members
24) Its activities are spearheading the implementation of the AU Second Decade Plan of Action in EMIS and making a difference	Practical and action oriented and addresses the needs of national stakeholders	good working relationships with Ministries of Education and REC'S

Q. 13 Name up to three areas or aspects of your Working Group that are in need of some improvement.

- 1) Nothing of which I can think. Maybe a serious Director might help. But major changes would have to be introduced

- | | | | |
|----|--|---|--|
| 2) | Currently two organisations are sharing the High management coordination. After 3 years, this experience is not pertinent. We should move for a more coordinated and unique institutional management | More follow up on the implementation of the Action Plan/ Year | Stronger involvement of the Steering Committee members on the regular management |
| 3) | Communication: The Newsletter (TMS) has ceased to circulate, should be revived to inform many | Assisting ministries of education with issues of: policy development, policy review, policy reform change of certain outdated practices. More targeted research is needed in these areas. | It is time for the WG to focus on selected one or two countries and assist them turn round on identified teaching profession issues, challenges or problems-training, policy development, new practices, undertaking particular research etc. I think that should be the measure of success for the WG-ability to turn round a poor performing ministry on some aspect of the teaching profession. |
| 4) | Host institution in Ghana had seemingly become antagonistic to the Coordinator and almost uncooperative with ADEA Leadership. | Regularity of meetings seems to have slackened in the past year, hence almost disrupting currency of ideas.. | The Association of Universities in Africa needs to revamp its interest and active involvement in AUC and ADEA work. |
| 5) | Steering Committee is not functioning very well since 2009 | Financial bottlenecks are still not entirely out of the way | Communication / responsiveness from the secretariat can improve |
| 6) | More support from ADEA Secretariat. | The Coordinator has too much to do. There is need to shed some weight to other officers | The selection of members of the network of African Education journalists who cover international conferences must be more scientific to ensure that the same group of people are not invited. |
| 7) | Ensuring budget reports are provided on time to permit next year's budget to be received. | Carrying out Annual Work Plan in a timely and transparent fashion. | Improved and frequent communications with 1) WG Steering Committee, 2) ECD Focal Points, and 3) AU leaders. |

8)	Planning (done half-half and ad hoc for the past 2-3 years) and no monitoring of plans	Management (especially communications from Secretariat are completely absent, even to Steering Committee Members)	Transparency is lacking
9)	Coordination: Since the misunderstanding between the coordinator and the AAU, the WG has been run as a one-person shop. The Coordinator is taking decisions in the name of the group without any consultation with members. There is mistrust between the coordinator and members of the working group. We need a new coordinator.	Work Plan. Because of the problems of the last 24 months or so, the WG is now on auto-pilot without a clear radar to guide it. This needs to be fixed urgently. Some of us members will soon have to make a decision as to whether it is worthwhile to continue participating.	Clear guidelines on membership of the Steering Committee. We discussed this in Dar es Salaam in 2004, but the practice has not followed what I think we agreed upon. In the same vein, we need to define the qualities and qualifications of the coordinator. This has to be a person who has credibility and integrity in the higher education community in Africa.
10)	more capacity building for members	more assistance at country level	more sharing of country/regional expertise and experiences
11)	Meaningful involvement of all stakeholders in planning of the activities	Active support of stakeholder activities that enhance the WG	Consistency in managing the coordination office
12)	distribution of publications and studies	using the studies at the national and sub-national levels
13)	Operational arrangements - how best to structure the WG so as to reach effectively the countries in need.	Dissemination of the WG work.	Consistency between the WG activities and national needs and priorities.
14)	la conception des manuels scolaires	l'édition des manuels scolaires	l'impression des manuels scolaires
15)	Networking processes and clustering in sub-regions;	research action strategies to ensure that what is being done is properly documented.
16)	Technical support as mentioned above
17)	Strengthening regional coordinations	Making the steering committee work (no meeting since 2007)	Developing stronger links with higher education institutions and research units
18)	Regular schedule of meetings	Revitalise research program	Follow-up to research projects, i.e. transforming research findings to policy

19) Getting more of the local institutions to take over the work of working group and have it weaned from its present status	A stronger and more dedicated Secretariat with a more effective participation of focal points from the memberstates	Having to work in the two principal working languages which adds to the overall cost of running the WG
20) We need to build back up our Steering and Technical Committees.
21) a more focused approach to implementing its strategic plan	a more active steering committee that can be a working committee, not just an advisory one	better coordination and follow-up between the comed coordinator and the adea secretariat
22) Improved monitoring and evaluation	Better communicate our results and the impact of our work	increasing the effectiveness of our chapters in-country
23) Shering information	Provide training to the group member to comming in the same understanding of the work	Include the Portuguese language as one of WG
24) To include other sub-sectors of education in their work such as higher educatio and TVET MIS
25) Clearer idea of longer term ADEA objectives
26) Elargir la couverture	diversifier les prestations	identifier de nouveaux acteurs et de nouvelles ressources humaines

Q. 14 Are there any other thoughts or comments that you would like to add?

- 1) The WGHE has been a great disappointment to me. It had so much potential and has turned out to be, for the greater part, a waste of time and funds. The WG had a totally inappropriate Director.
- 2) If you need further insights into this particular WG feel free to contact me for clarifications or further discussion. Dr Henry Kaluba, 00 260 096553 2233 or 00 260 97853 2233
- 3) It was a privilege to work with fellow colleagues in the WGHE, which has a high potential of contributing even more successes in the ADEA Forum.
- 4) ADEA is a GREAT institution doing GREAT work and everything should be done by all stakeholders to sustain its role and also enhance output and impact.
- 5) Thank you for the opportunity to reflect on what is a successful Working Group but also one that needs to improve its organization, management and communications.
- 6) The ADEA Secretariat has allowed the WG to continue in this beligered state. I would like to see the Secretariat take a more decisive role in solving problems in WGs when such problems arise.

- 7) regional level teams should be formalised and coordination and support ensured WGmembers should meet more often
- 8) For some time now our WG has suffered lack of continuity due to changes in the coordination office. Also there has not been meaningful involvement of the stakeholders in drawing up the work plans and thus apathy has slowly set in and this has affected the effectiveness of the WG. There has been general apathy among members of the WG which needs to be addressed urgently to restore confidence.
- 9) The challenge before most of the WGs is the permanent conflict between reaching all and every African country (what seems to be an impossible exercise) and focus on few and those who are internally well repared to take the advantage of the ADEA work and support.
- 10) I do not feel comfortable to comment on these points as I have not been engaged with ADEA or the working groups over the last 2 years. My knowledge is fully fixed on earlier experience.
- 11) The working group has positioned itself quite strategically in the on-going policy dialogue on the need for a paradigm shift for sustainable human resources development for the creation of the wealth of nations which was part of the theme adopted for the first World conference on ECCE
- 12) ADEA is a force to be reckoned with in the education sector in Africa, and has tremendous convening power and the attentive ear of most MOE. It can use these to push for increased attention to quality education, in-depth reform of African education systems and increased equity towards most disadvantaged, including girls and women.
- 13) All the meetings that the WG had is been a big contribution to the members in their work,
- 14) The developments by donors require a rethinking of the added value of the various WG within ADEA. Are they strategic, should some be abolished? The same question should be asked for ADEA in itself. Are the Ministers of Education still committed to ADEA and if so would they be willing to finance the organisation from their own budgets.
